JANUARY 22, 2017

From the Pastor

The financial report contained in this week's bulletin has been ready for a little while but other events and efforts upstaged it till now. Many, many thanks to all who have been faithful in their financial support of the parish; your efforts have made our continued ministries possible. I know that there are some who would like to do more financially but their straightened circumstances make it impossible. They continue to support the parish by the donation of their time or their prayer or both.

This year we were blessed to receive two extraordinary gifts from parishioners who remembered us in their wills. I could recommend their example to anyone concerned about the financial future of the parish.

You will notice that we're doing our best to hold down and even reduce our expenses. I can't thank enough all the people who accomplish so much as volunteers. Without the generous offering of their time, the most precious commodity, how would any parish survive? May God repay them a hundred-fold!

I would again recommend a change in Catholics' attitude toward giving. Instead of asking how much the parish needs in order to pay its bills, we might try to think of our contribution as a thank-offering to God for the blessings we have received. The bible commands us to give away 10% of our gross incomes to charity. I do not think that that should go to the parish. A quarter of that—the equivalent of one hour's wage for every 40 hours of work—or even 20% of the 10% would be a remarkable change in resources for the parish and make it possible for us to consider needs beyond our own. Moreover, is our goal to get enough to pay our bills? Or should we be thinking of others? What about the missionary efforts of the Church, or about inner-city parishes in our own dioceses? Or what about expanding the services we are able to provide even within our parish and local community?

I must admit that my own first desire is not so much that people should give more but that more people should give. The burden is always falling on the same faithful souls. Still, we can all ask in the words of Psalm 116:12, "What can I render unto the Lord for all his benefits towards me?"

The Rhody Catholic Organization (RCO) at the URI Catholic Center will host a special event to kick off the new semester. The Worship Group from St. Luke's in Barrington will present a concert featuring songs from their new album, "Listen Above." The concert will feature URI sophomore Emily Turtle, as well as Kelly Botelho-Caton on lead vocals; with music and lyrics by David J. Lauria. The concert will be held on Wednesday, January 25, at 7pm at the URI Catholic Center (90 Chapel Way, Kingston). All are welcome, both students and members of the wider community. The concert is free, but CD's will be available for only $10.00 (all proceeds help provide clean water for children in developing countries). For more information, email rhodycatholic@gmail.com.

HOST FAMILIES NEEDED for NET Ministry Team

NET Ministries, a national evangelization team consisting of 12 young adults will be leading our Confirmation Retreats again this year. They will be in our diocese for the week from March 24-31 leading retreats. Our parish is responsible for providing lodging during their stay in Rhode Island. Team members travel with their own sleeping bag so they are just looking for floor space, hot showers and a meal. Spending time with these young adults is a real blessing! If you are interested in hosting some of them, please contact Diane Castro at our Religious Education Office by phone (792-8684) or email (castro_stfrancis@verizon.net).

The date for our next High School Youth Night has changed to Sunday, January 29th due to the conflict with Super Bowl Sunday. Our very own Praise Music Ministry will lead us in an hour of adoration starting at 7pm in the Church. Confirmation candidates are required to attend but all parishioners are welcome to join us!
